APPLE CIDER VINEGAR

Apple Cider Vinegar aids digestion, builds resistance to parasites and infections helping to cure mastitis, grass staggers, and anaemia and increasing wool yields and milk production. Rich in health giving bacterial enzymes, acid and minerals (including selenium, a mineral lacking in New Zealand soils and deficient in stock).

GARLIC

Garlic strengthens and supports the animals physiological systems. It is ideal for respiratory disorders, being both an expectorant and antibiotic. Garlic contains 33 sulphur compounds, 17 amino acids, is rich in sulphur which is vital to a good digestive system. It is one of the best herbs to protect animals from infections. Taken internally it guards against coughs, viral infections and worm infestations.

SEAWEED

Provides a whole range of vitamins from A through M (folic acid), also essential for the efficient digestion and metabolism of the diet. Seaweed also contains 20 minerals, including the electrolytes, sodium and chlorine, potassium and magnesium vital for water uptake. The calcium present will help to redress the calcium, phosphorous imbalance which is often seen in concentrate diets, while the copper and iron present work together in red blood cell formation.

HONEYDEW

Honeydew differs from regular honey containing nutritionally advantageous complex sugars which are more slowly absorbed into the bloodstream. Honeydew has exceptionally high levels of anti-bacterial properties and promotes beneficial bacteria.
